

Rep. Bruce Braley (D-Iowa) released the following statement in response to reports that John Deere would be investing $90 million to expand manufacturing capacity of its large, high-horsepower tractors: "I'm excited that John Deere is making such a significant investment in its Waterloo operations.... Braley Comments on Deere Plans to Invest $90 Million in Waterloo Works

Washington, Feb 28 - Rep. Bruce Braley (D-Iowa) released the following statement in response to reports that John Deere would be investing $90 million to expand manufacturing capacity of its large, high-horsepower tractors:

"I'm excited that John Deere is making such a significant investment in its Waterloo operations. Since 1912, Deere has been deeply involved in Waterloo's economy and history. At a time when many companies are growing their offshore operations, I'm happy to hear that Deere is investing in American factories and the American workforce. Iowa workers are the best in the world, and this announcement means good things for the Cedar Valley."